

I'm Drew Stephens, holding a 4-year Art/Design Degree with 3 years of work experience. Specialties are design, copywriting, and promotions.

Corporate design experience with Dell, Nextel, Lexmark, and ABN AMRO

At my current position, I work with with three other designers and a team of developers. We build internal corporate rewards and recognition websites for a growing assortment of organizations, accompanied by promotional materials as well - posters, flyers, email campaigns, etc..

While concept, design and communication are a main focus, I also carry a good working knowledge of web development. HTML, CSS, and Flash - enough to design, launch and manage a fully functional site.

Scroll down. Hopefully the few items I've created and referenced below will speak for themselves. My main goal at this point is to find a new place of employment and a new challenge. I'm open to relocation, as well as freelance assignments. I'll provide references on request.

If you have questions, would like to discuss the possibility of work, perhaps even to test the waters on a small project to find out if I'm worth dealing with, don't hesitate to email me: drewstephens@gmail.com
